Suspect Fugitive Foiled In Efforts To Be Jailed

Aurora—A slightly queer character, who expressed a wish to be taken into custody but because he was quite harmless, had some funds, and a car which he could drive well, could only be escorted out of town by local police, caused a flurry of excitement Saturday. Early in the morning he entered Beazer's restaurant and phoned for the police, but his inquiry brought no results. He then attempted to walk out without paying for his food, again to no avail since Mr. Beazer made it a gift. He then attempted to take out some soft drinks, but was stopped.

Leaving Beazer's, he visited other restaurants and stores which open early, finally obtaining gasoline on credit at one station. Then it was thought that the man might be Harold Feighen of Toronto, who the night previous had wounded his wife in Toronto and disappeared. County Constable Aubrey Fleury and the Chief Constable scoured the town but the man that had been so obvious was now out of sight. Finally he appeared nonchalantly smoking a cigar, and said his name was "Bill."

Police investigation proved that he was not the missing Feighen, and in fact, was quite harmless. With that, the police quickly saw that he shook the dust of Aurora from his feet and moved out of town in his car.

Fumes, Smoke, Drive Tenants Into Street

Newmarket—A fire in a Westley block apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Carson directly above the new Dominion Bank building smoked out the tenants of several apartments with ammonia gas and drew over 100 people in a few minutes to a deserted Main St. just before midnight Tuesday night.

Fire chief Jos. Brammer said that it started in an electric refrigerator, the motor having apparently seized and heated. There was little damage outside the refrigerator except to the wall and there was some smoke damage. Part of the wall behind the refrigerator was burning when the firemen arrived. Ammonia gas, released from the burning refrigerator, forced the tenants into the street. Firemen had to use gas masks to go in.

Mrs. Roy Zimmerman, in an apartment above, said she and her husband heard some boys in the street say "Hey, there's a fire", and then the crash of the glass in the fire box. "The whistle sounded and the boys came into the building knocking on doors," said Mrs. Zimmerman. "Someone came in and asked where the fire equipment for the building was kept. We went down the new fire escape at the back," she said.

Larry Needler, in the apartment directly above, said he heard the whistle. He opened the window to look for the fire and put his head into a billow of smoke and fumes coming from the window below. He said he had time to get a few clothes on. A rare occasion for Main St. people were walking around in pyjamas and dressing gowns.

Beef Shortage Said Cause Of Prices

As meat prices climb skywards, local butchers say that there is always a shortage of good beef at this time of year and add that there are rumors that the export embargo on shipments to the United States will be lifted and beef is being withheld. These factors have set the big meat buyers to outbidding each other for available beef with the consumer paying the shot.

One butcher said he thought that farmers are getting a good price and that the meat packing companies are not on a greater margin than they were before. Another said that the sooner there is a price ceiling, the better. "We are trying to keep our prices at a minimum. These high prices mean less profit for us in the long run," he said.

There has been no definite sign that the embargo on meat shipments to the United States will be lifted. If such a move were made, it is thought that prices would rise with the resulting increased shortage of meat in Canada. Finance Minister Abbott recently declared that the government does not intend to return to an over-all price control or wage control.

Meanwhile, in the city, sirloin was selling at 75 cents per lb., round steak at 71 cents and short rib roasts at 50 cents. Some city butchers reported consumer resistance to these prices. Predictions were made that food prices would rise as people would turn to chicken as an alternative.

Newmarket—The purchase of a modern load packer, covered garbage truck was suggested by Councillor Aubrey Scythes on behalf of a special council meeting on Monday night. Councillor Tom Birrell said that it would be a good piece of equipment to help town sanitation.

It removes liquids from wet garbage while being compressed and it would regulate garbage to certain types, eliminating complaints from collectors about heavy objects, said Mr. Scythes. An estimated cost with chassis would be $7,500 and it would save money, he said.

Council decided it would be better to get a tender for a four-year contract where the contractor supplied the equipment instead of the town.

Move To Re-Value Town Properties

Newmarket—As a step towards the equalization of town assessments, Newmarket will acquire an approved firm of appraisers to value all commercial and residential land and buildings. This was resolved at a special meeting of the town council on Monday night at the council chambers.

The council decided to act immediately so that assessments could be made on the new basis this summer and Mayor Jos. Vale advised that the assessor be instructed to cancel any assessments that have already been made. Assessments are not to be sent out until July 1, he said.

Mr. Vale said that the present assessment roll is in alphabetical order, a system which went by the boards in most municipalities years ago. He said the present roll is inadequate with 80 percent of the descriptions of properties defective and there are many discrepancies in values, as everybody knows, he said.

Some members of council felt that an outside appraiser should do the job while others said that two contractors and a real estate man could make satisfactory appraisals. One member said local men might be biased and meet embarrassing situations. Deputy-Reeve J. L. Spilllette added that a valuator from Toronto would look through "Toronto eyes" and, as an example, would value Main St. business too high.

The mayor said that no matter how inflated the valuation would be on all property and buildings, they would all be appraised through the same eyes and the result would be an equalization of appraisals. "Mine might go up and yours might go down," he said, "but everything would be equalized."

Councillor Rudy Renzius said that the revenue from the new assessments would pay the cost of appraisals in a short time.

School Registration Held Next Week

Newmarket—A registration for prospective pupils who did not register in April and who will be attending school for the first time this September will be held from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. at Alexander Muir school on Monday, June 21; King George school, Tuesday, June 22; Stuart Scott school, Wednesday, June 23.

It will not be necessary for those who registered in April to re-register, but all are asked to visit their respective schools on these dates. Children for registration in the kindergarten must be at least five years of age on the opening day of school in September. Those for grade 1 must be at least six years of age on December 31 of this year.

Children for registration in the kindergarten must be residents of Newmarket. Proof of age by birth certificate or other legal document is required for each child registered in both kindergarten and grade 1. To facilitate the organization of classes for this autumn, it is important that this registration be complete.

At school, the health of the children is given considerable attention, and a health record is kept. Before a child starts to school, it is advisable that he have a complete physical examination by a doctor. It has been found that many children on examination are shown to have physical defects which can be corrected during the summer months. It is important that every child start school with the best possible physique to preclude loss of time from illness during the fall and winter terms.

It is suggested that, if you have no doctor, bring your child on the dates mentioned to your school during registration and have a provisional examination made by the nurse, to be followed later by medical and dental treatment. It is desired that all children anticipating attendance at school for the first time be checked by doctor and dentist. The nurse's services are available for consultation and inspection.

THOUSANDS MORE FARMERS WILL USE TRACTORS

because The new Canadian-made Massey-Harris "Pony" has opened up a great new market for tractors

One year ago, Massey-Harris introduced a new small tractor... the "Pony"... with a full complement of mounted tools... to be made in its Canadian factory at Woodstock. Previously, all tractors used in Canada, were imported. Thus, Massey-Harris took two important steps which are bound to play a big part in Canadian prosperity during the years ahead.

The "Pony" opens up a great new market for tractors, both in Canada and in the export field. The last Canadian census showed nearly 500,000 farms still without tractors... many of which are small farms and market gardens where big tractor outfits are not practical. And there are a great many more thousands of small farms in the United States, in Europe, in Africa, and other countries where Massey-Harris products are sold. Almost every one of them is a prospect for a "Pony".

With the practical, economical "Pony" thousands more farmers will be able to use tractor power to do their work easier, quicker, and more profitably.

The manufacture of the "Pony" Tractor in Canada will provide jobs in the years ahead for Canadian workers... not only those employed in the Massey-Harris factory, but also those employed in the industries which supply materials, parts and services.

The great and growing demand for the "Pony", from the day of its first public demonstration, is evidence of its real need and place in Canadian and world agriculture.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT Armed Robbery Charged, Youth Remanded Week

Newmarket—Alfred W. Johnson, 17, Wilcox Lake, appeared without counsel in magistrate's court on Friday with three charges laid against him in connection with an attempted armed robbery of Ivan Cornfield, East Gwillimbury, on June 3. The accused was remanded in custody for a week and Crown Attorney Armstrong said he would arrange to get a lawyer for the boy. The three charges were pointing a loaded revolver at Ivan Cornfield, having a loaded weapon while committing a criminal offence, and unlawfully attempting to rob with a loaded revolver.

The crown could show no evidence that Harry Hanson was the driver of a car in an accident on the Hedge Road at the west approach to Mossington Park, Georgina, May 1, and a charge of careless driving against him was dismissed. Constable William Hill, Sutton, said no other car was involved in the accident. He said he found the car against a tree and estimated $300 damage done to it.

Rural Pupils Show Talent

By Isabel Inglis Colville

We journeyed to the Newmarket high school May 31 to hear the children of Snowball, Hartman, Armitage, Sharon, Bogart, and Vandorf schools, under the direction of Mr. Buckley, sing as schools and as a group. The auditorium was filled to capacity but the children overflowed. That was the one blot on an otherwise delightful evening. The very small were lost in the crowd, for the number precluded the use of the stage for combined choruses.

Mr. Buckley said that the choruses had never been combined at any practice and also that the two and three-part work was really secondary school work, but the children were so eager and so receptive that they were equal to it. Having trained small children, we always listen for enunciation and pronunciation, for if you do not hear what the singers are singing about — what does all the beauty of tone mean? The test of enunciation is when one listens to an unfamiliar set of words and there were one or two such numbers on the program, and of these we caught enough to make them understandable which was quite a feat with such a large chorus and on a level with the audience — always a disadvantage.

The Juniors gave a demonstration of the way their education in singing is begun — so-fah rhythm and action. This was pretty and the earnestness of the small ones was a delightful thing to see — especially the tiniest boy of all who worked so hard I'm sure he would have to sleep all the next day to make up.

Not having space to mention each number except to say that the choruses, "May God Preserve Thee, Canada," "Song of Liberty," "Glocca Morra," and "Stout-hearted Men," "All for One," "Macnamara's Band," "Old Man River," "95th Psalm," and "Christ, the Lord, is Risen Today," and "Rendezvous" were given with spirit and a real sense of interpretation. Two dances made delightful interludes. Highland Dance by Isabel Rogers and Douglas Doner in costumes delighted the other half of the family to such an extent that at one time I thought he might be tempted to join them. This, as well as the Rhythm Band, was the product of Armitage school, Miss Prosser, teacher.

The Rhythm Band was a delight both to watch — in their fetching blue and white uniforms, and a joy to listen to for their accuracy and attention to their conductor. The other half of the family and I had a rhythm band before the schools introduced them and we know exactly what Miss Prosser was up against before she achieved the perfection we witnessed. Our hats are off to her.

The Swedish Schottische was danced by four pupils of Hartman's school, and Mrs. Chaburn had trained and costumed her girls in a way that reflected credit on herself and on them. They looked like flowers in their gay ballet dresses. More folk dancing, we think, should form part of all school work. Sharon school presented a round in three parts — well done. This was Mr. Chamber's contribution. Snowball — Mrs. Warkington, teacher — gave a lovely two-part chorus, "Where Waves Are Tossing." Vandorf school had a charming little duet by Joyce and Jim which everyone heartily admired. The school sang, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," which is a full-sized piece of work in any language, and which reflected great credit on both the teacher, Mrs. Gould, and Mr. Buckley.

Bogartown's school — Miss Buckenfield, teacher — gave us the "Six Little Milk Maids," complete with pails and milking stools, and so the program came to an end with God Save the King, and we older people felt we had been born too early — the children of today have so much in music that we had not.

Trinity Church Junior Choir A drenching thunderstorm could not keep a large and appreciative audience from Trinity United church on the evening of June 4. Spring flowers — the growth of the youth of the year — and young faces above flower-like white and pink gowns, made up a scene of beauty, and this beauty was carried on by voice and fingers as the program went on. An exquisitely smooth flowing tone distinguished "O Peaceful Night," "An Evening Hymn," and "Gentle Evening Bendeth" — let me say the last number was by the choir's conductor, Herman Fowler, and was a lovely melody. Their conductor had managed to convey to the children a feeling of reverence for the beauty within the music and the listeners felt and appreciated it.

"The Farmer's Boy" and "I Would That My Boundless Love" required different interpretation — and for it — a livelier tempo and in some places a joyousness that was in accordance with the spring.

"Drums of Freedom," sung by Alice Rourke and choir, was given with a breadth of tone and a soaring quality that was inspiring. We wished it could have been repeated. Pauline Vanden Bergh, Patsy Dunn, Arlene Carley, Dawn Gilman, Peggy Ann Gilman and Donald Cock gave us vocal solos. Can anyone tell me why vocal solos by children are so touching? Perhaps it is the fresh young voices, untouched by the cares that so soon catch up with youth, but at any rate, we all enjoyed these solos and I think we all felt like cheering for the one boy whose solo, by the way, was lovely. Noreen Walker, Mary Blackwell, Margaret Armstrong and Jean Rose (duet), Jean Rose and Janet Foxcroft gave us piano solos and a duet.

And now, a few special things. First of all — to Mr. Fowler should go the appreciation and co-operation of choir, parents and church members. Mr. Fowler has done and is doing a time. Music appreciation, a love for real music, and the ability to render it, will be the heritage of these little ones and they can thank their conductor, work that is not just for now but

Beth King, whose solo, "Valse in C sharp minor," was beautifully played, accompanied the choir with a precision and attention worthy of a veteran.

Alice Rourke gave what she always gives — a perfectly satisfying performance. Delightful to watch as well as to listen to. Mrs. Rourke carried all hearts away with her.

A little ceremony took place midway in the program, when Mr. H. A. Jackson was asked to come to the platform and act as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Blackwell was also asked to come and as junior choir mother was presented with a token of appreciation. Mr. Jackson spoke of his pride and delight in the junior choir and of its place in church economy and then proceeded to present the following young folk with gifts for their faithfulness to the choir: for perfect attendance for two years, Patsy Dunn; perfect attendance, one year, Noreen Walker, Arlene Carley, Jean Denne, Jean Rose; absent one rehearsal, Eileen Newton, Marion Harmon. And also a presentation to Beth King for her fine work.

When the last soft good-night chorus faded into stillness, we went out into the soft spring rain, feeling the music had fallen on our ears with the same refreshing that the earth received from the welcome shower.

U.S.A. Trips Won By M. Keffer, B. Snider

Newmarket — Throughout the district the buzz in farm circles this past week concerns the results of the York County Junior Farmer livestock judging contest and Girls' Achievement Day here June 3 and attended by an enthusiastic group of juniors. Forty-three from all districts of the county registered in the boys' section with a promising delegation from the newly formed Schomberg club. Once again the local junior farmer coaches gave leadership and training to novices who from all appearances gained in every way from the competition. The girls' section, featuring the units Cotton Accessories for the Club Girl's Bedroom and the Supper Club, and presented in the parish hall, contained many attractive exhibits.

The farms visited for the livestock classes this year were: Eaton Hall Farm, King, for draft horses, light horses, Holstein cows; Jack Bowser, Newmarket, for Angus heifers; Herb Dunham, Newmarket, for Jersey cows; J. H. Crang, Newmarket, for Shorthorn cows, Suffolk ewes and market class, Yorkshire sows and tilts. A delightful surprise greeted the boys when Mr. and Mrs. John Kudelka of Mr. Crang's farm played hosts to them, supplying delicious lunch. An expression of appreciation was made by Bruce Snider, Maple, past president of the county group.

Following the competition, a banquet was held in the Presbyterian church and presided over by Bill Mitchell, Oak Ridges, president of the York County Junior Farmers, who in his opening remarks made special reference to the excellent meal supplied by the Presbyterian ladies. Following a word of greeting by Dick Hilliard, junior extension fieldman, two humorous stunts were carried on by the juniors themselves and like last year met with whole-hearted approval. Then followed the announcement of awards by Miss Lulu Row, home economist for York county, and A. L. McKenzie, assistant agricultural representative, Newmarket.

Evelyn Hare of the Vellore club was the winner of the A. J. H. Eckardt Memorial trophy for outstanding achievement. The province of Ontario Savings Office trophy awarded to the girls' club with the most outstanding group again won by the Vellore group.

Mary Keffer, Maple, for all round ability, won the free trip to Chicago. Bruce Snider, Maple, standing well up in the competition, won the other U.S.A. trip, an award based on general proficiency in all junior farmer activities. Carl Boynton, Woodbridge, high man in both junior and senior contests, won the Col. Geo. B. Little Shield, Keith Wardlaw, Kleinburg, and George Craib, Vellore.

The inter-township team award was taken by the Vaughan team of Carl Boynton and Mason Fletcher, Woodbridge, and Keith Wardlaw, Kleinburg. The C.N.E. shield for the highest aggregate score in the novice class was awarded to Les Weatherill, Unionville. To the high standing boy in each class in the junior competition, the following challenge trophies were presented: horses, E. T. Stephens and Jas. McLean Trophy, Lloyd Baldson, Sharon; beef, John Gardhouse Trophy, Duncan Watson, Woodbridge; dairy, Gordon Duncan Trophy, Dawson Aitchison, Schomberg; sheep, D. W. Baxter Trophy, Norman Tyndall, Richmond Hill; swine, Boynton Bros. Trophy, Eldred King, Markham.

Last Friday evening Brownhill ball team went out in full force, in new sweaters, looking fine and handsome, to play against the Keswick team. But where was the Keswick team? Maybe they thought Brownhill wasn't coming.

Most of the village spent Saturday at Mount Albert and many were winners of groceries and other articles.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gardiner had their daughter and son-in-law visiting them for a short while on Sunday.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Warren Sedore had a houseful of guests among whom were Mr. Stan Osborne, Mr. Glover, Mr. and Mrs. Tremayne, Sutton West, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lettich, Mr. and Mrs. Maylon Sedore, Cedar Brae, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Sedore and most of the villagers all reported an excellent evening. I. O'Brien's and Mrs. Ivan Sedore's renditions and solos were greatly appreciated. Also Mr. Tremayne's recitations. If elections bring parties like these, maybe we should have more elections.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hillis and family have returned to the farm with the exception of Ivan. Ivan Hillis has taken over the store. We wish him great success in this new venture.

Mrs. Emeline Sedore has returned home after a few days' visit with her daughter, Mrs. Longhurst at Zephyr.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Miller have been spending a few days putting up their little cottage. It is like old times to have Clifford back at Brownhill. We hope they are able to stay.

We would like to give special mention to the folk who haven't visited Baldwin lately who should see Mr. Frank Tumbleton's tulips. There is not just a tulip or two but hundreds of the most wonderful flowers.

Miss Iva Vokes spent Sunday and Monday at the home of Mrs. Warren Sedore.

On Tuesday, Brownhill school children all went to have chest x-rays at Mount Albert.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall Davies have had several guests during the week. They included Mrs. Davies' mother and Mr. Davies' brother, Roy Davies, who is convalescing after the train accident.

Mr. Ross Mitchell visited in Brownhill on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Crowder and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy Crouch Sunday afternoon.

FARM BULLETIN

SAVE THOSE LITTLE PIGS!

Every farmer who raises pigs extensively has encountered two problems (1) prolific sows with more pigs than they can nurse efficiently, (2) sows that fail to produce sufficient milk for a small litter. In either case these small pigs must be fed in a hurry—or profits will die with them.

One of the Dominion Experimental Farms suggests the following formula for hand feeding: 3 pints of whole milk, two fresh eggs, a teaspoonful of cod liver oil or pichardine oil, and a quarter-teaspoonful of salt, warmed to blood heat. Feed newborn pigs every two or three hours the first few days. You may need an infant's feeding bottle at the start, but hungry little pigs soon learn to drink out of a shallow dish, the farm says. Cows' milk alone won't do a proper feeding job. It isn't rich enough in protein or fat. Be sure to keep feeding bottle, dish, trough spotlessly clean. Dirt is death to small pigs.

If you need the service of money to make improvements in pens, hog houses, pig lots, or for other purposes that will help you increase farm earnings, see our branch manager in your district. He will be glad to assist you in every way possible.

THE BANK OF TORONTO

Incorporated 1855

Newmarket Branch—Mr. A. C. Lord, Mgr.

The Parliament of Canada has just passed "an act respecting The Bell Telephone Company of Canada". Here is what this act means to the telephone-using public:

More and Better Telephone Service

A Period of Unequalled Growth

In the 34 months since V-J Day we have added 350,000 telephones—many more than in the preceding ten years. We now serve 1,360,000 telephones—22 for every 100 persons throughout Ontario and Quebec. We have never before provided so much new service in so short a time.

This unprecedented pace has been maintained with the aid of new capital from Canadian investors. More will be required.

The Continuing Demand for Service

Yet, despite this rapid growth, we still have 96,000 unfilled orders for telephones and another 69,000 requests to change party lines to individual service. Thousands of new orders are coming in every month.

Long Distance calls are three times pre-war levels.

Many new buildings, switchboards, lines and other equipment must be provided as rapidly as possible. The next decade may well see more telephone construction than during the preceding 68 years of our history.

Rural Telephone Service

Rural telephone service has expanded, and will continue to do so. In the territory we serve, 55 of every 100 rural homes and businesses have telephones. In 1945 only 39% had service.

Vast Construction Program Continues

Parliament has given the Bell Telephone Company permission to increase its authorized capital by $350,000,000.

The Company can now continue to go to investors for the money necessary to further the greatest expansion and improvement program in its history.

This construction program is necessary if the Company is to carry out its obligation and satisfy the public's continuing demand for more telephones and more telephone service.

Our objective is to extend and improve the service so that ultimately we can give every applicant the kind and quality of service he wants, when and as he wants it.

Our farm program calls for still more telephones, for fewer parties on each line, and for more new switchboards.

Dial Telephones

New dial equipment is being installed in tremendous quantities.

Today we have more dial telephones than the total of all our telephones in 1942. Now 70 out of every 100 telephones are dial. More exchanges will be converted to dial operation.

Financing the Program

Much of the new money necessary to extend the telephone system must be obtained from thousands of people who wish to invest their savings.

The principal means of securing this new capital will be by issuing additional shares of our stock from time to time with the approval of the Board of Transport Commissioners.

It was for this purpose that the authority of Parliament was obtained.

Best Service—Lowest Cost

The skill and enthusiasm of telephone workers will be devoted to turning the materials obtained with the new capital into service of the highest standard.

The public can be assured that The Bell Telephone Company of Canada will continue to provide the best telephone service at the lowest possible cost.

Memorial To Be Unveiled Sunday

Last fall, the Newmarket Veterans' Association launched a campaign to raise funds for a memorial in the Veterans' Plot at the Newmarket cemetery. Sunday sees the successful climax of that campaign with the unveiling of the memorial before the comrades of the men it honors. It is not an elaborate structure, nor have lavish funds been spent on it. It was not the purpose of the men whose efforts raised it to pay tribute with dollars. What they sought, and what they have achieved is a symbol of the dignity of death in service.

It is fitting, too, that the memorial is their own effort. It was conceived in the memory of men who remembered the beaches of Normandy and the crest of Vimy. It came to fruition through their efforts. There was no prompting from without. There had been promises. Even before victory, there had been promises of what would be done. What was done was by those who remembered best, the men and women who returned.

The memorial will be unveiled on Sunday. It will stand through the years as the ageless remembrance of what was done that a country might be succored. And it will remember also by whom it was done.

Poor Advice From The Star

The election post-mortems of the Toronto Daily Star have included criticism of the provincial Liberals for their stand against the CCF. As an election tactic, the Liberal position was scarcely tenable as events proved. The Liberals adhered to the Drew line of misrepresentation, vituperative against the CCF with the inevitable result that they were tarred with the same brush that was applied to the Conservatives. The issue became one of "vote right or vote left". There was no inbetween.

The Star, however, goes further and in most discreet language, suggests that the Liberals not only refrain from criticism of the CCF, but look upon the CCF as their "natural ally". What virtue the Star finds in this role of midwife to the political hybrid of CCF x Liberal must exist only in its fevered imagination. The irreconcilable ground between the CCF belief in the supremacy of the state and the traditional Liberal belief in the supremacy of the individual over the state is bridged with the most trifling of sophistry.

The assumption of powers by the State is not a reduction of rights of the individual. At least that is what the Star argues. On the contrary, those powers are assumed "on behalf of" the individual. The citizen does not lose his rights, they are merely signed into the keeping of the state. Thus, the Star has created this benevolent custodian of individual rights which, apart from its sheer fantasy which surely deserves a medal of some sort, serves the purely practical purpose of justifying the Star support of opposites, the federal Liberal party and the provincial CCF party.

The fortunes of the provincial Liberals are at low ebb but they will not improve by following the advice of the Star to look upon the CCF as a "natural ally". There is a need for a party which can uphold the supremacy of the individual over the state without submitting to the excesses of Toryism, which can contribute to the welfare of society without subjecting society to the state. That is the only policy which is completely acceptable to a democracy. The Liberals are the logical party to promote that policy, but it means an unwavering belief in it, an end to its abandonment for the sake of the temporal advantage of alliance with either the CCF or the Progressive-Conservatives.

How High Must The Price Go?

In common with every other meat eater, we wonder why the price of meat has risen so high that a plate of hamburger is in the caviar class. There are explanations aplenty but they aren't very satisfying. It would be more to the point if the government recalled its assurance, when ceilings came off, that any extreme increase in prices would mean a return to ceilings.

The prompt decontrol of the Canadian economy after the war was necessary. A period of unsettled prices while the market found its own level was expected. But the theorists who assumed that the settling process would be one of short duration, and the producers who argued that a lower price and heavier production would result from decontrol are out on their calculations. Shortages continue and the prices continue to rise.

How high do prices have to rise before the government acts?

Bribing The Taxpayers

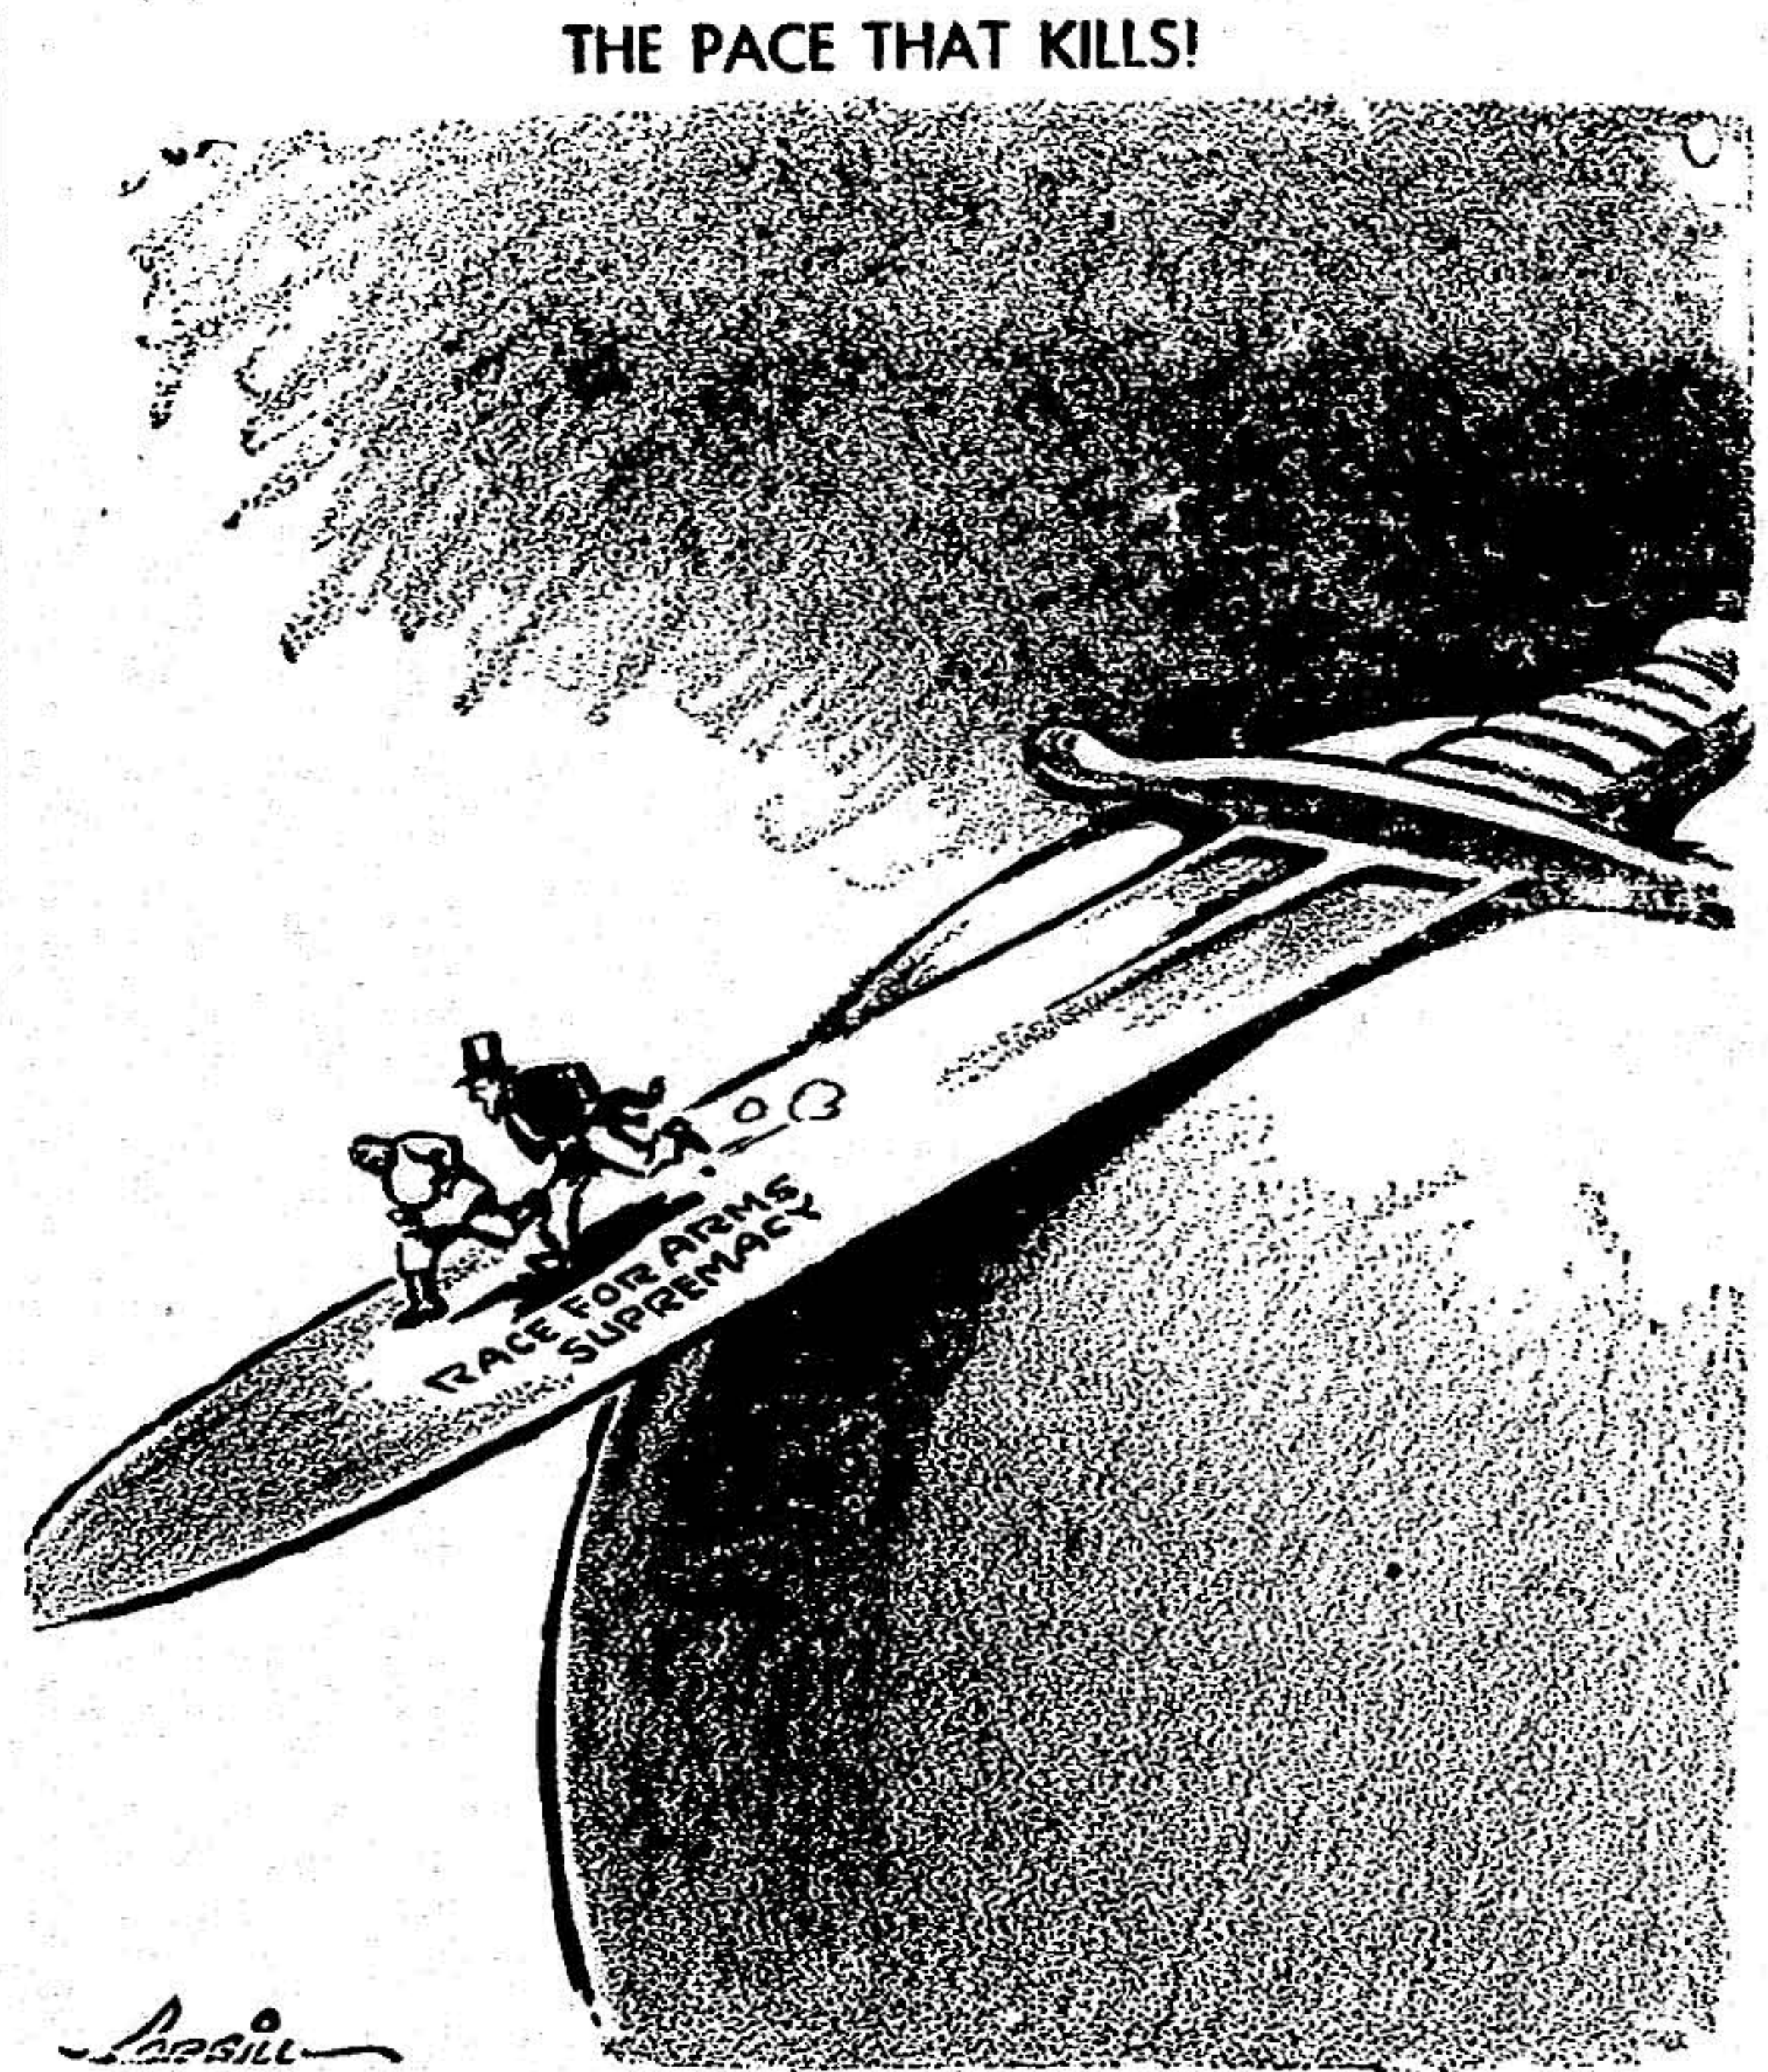

Time was when "economy" was the touchword which brought in the votes. Now political parties vie with each other in promises of lavish expenditures. During the provincial election campaign, the government with a surplus of $25 million had a new way to spend it every time its representatives spoke. There were promises of all sorts, new universities in the north, bridges and highways. All of it very laudable to be sure.

The CCF for its part proposed to subsidize new homes, 20,000 of them, and offered the whole range of government provided social services. The Liberals were less obvious but their program included higher pensions and compensation payments, as well as outlays for agriculture. All of this is very desirable, and it appeared at the time that regardless of what party was elected, the citizen would become beneficiary of the biggest spending spree in history.

There is just one hitch in such programs. The money that the politicians are so glibly proposing to spend, comes from only one source, the taxpayer. Regardless of how it is returned to him, as pension payment or as subsidy, it first must be paid by him in the form of taxes. In effect, those political promises were nothing more than a form of bribery of the taxpayers, with the taxpayers' own money.

There is the unfortunate impression abroad, even though it is contrary to all common sense, that governments have a hidden treasure chest into which they dip when an expenditure is warranted. There is only one source of that money—the taxpayers' pockets. When the government spends money, it is spending the taxpayers' money. It is a fact worth remembering.

Dean Inge put it this way: "Democratic politics inevitably end as an auction of the worldly goods of the unrepresented minority, conducted by rival groups of politicians who instead of bribing, immorally perhaps but innocuously, with their own money, fleece the taxpayer for the benefit of the electorate."

Cat Nips

BY GINGER

Boss, I'm glad I am a cat. I get pretty fed up with human society, always excepting you, boss, although there is that slight matter of a promised raise. Humans have some funny standards and I'm glad I don't have to live up to them.

You know, boss, if some citizen walks down the main drag in his bare feet on a warm day, he is a marked man. So what, I say. So what if this citizen doesn't wear shoes. Whose business is it but his and the Amalgamated Society of Shoe Manufacturers?

But what happens, boss? I ask you, what happens? This citizen in his bare feet is labeled as a radical. He is out of step with society, boss, because he favors the touch of concrete on his bare soles instead of through a quarter inch of tanned cowhide.

You know, boss, we cats accept this sort of thing as completely understandable. You don't hear any back fence gossip if that tortoise shell down the street trims her whiskers. And we consider it perfectly natural if a tom wants to cavort on the back fence in the light of the moon.

You might say, boss, that our morals are loose. But we are not inhibited, boss. No sir. In fact, boss, I might refer you to the following verse written by Jupiter before his unfortunate demise when he confused himself with a seagull and tried to fly from the tenth storey window. Hey ho, ding dong, Live life, like a song, Wild and free, With feline glee Uninhibited, we get along.

Henrietta, the noble cat, left the Pacific coast on a tidal wave past the Aleutian Islands, we think.

Last week Euclid the Rat went down to the city zoo to interview the well travelled Inner Monoglim Zozo-Humphrat, a species of Asiatic prairie rodent, whose name is Numtum.

Numtum was taken into the custody of a group of geologists off the northern tip of some Japanese islands and brought to the zoo. Scientists say that he is mad, but Euclid thought differently when he learned that its rantings were about a wild, coastwise she-cat, known as the scourge of the Nipponese Shores who sailed in a plugged up seive, looting fish canneries and burning tails off cocker spaniels.

Numtum told Euclid that the cat flew the skull and bones at the masthead and the women of the sea towns would clutch their children at night and men would scan the sea in fear of "Musukura", the dread of the sea, that horrid she-cat.

Numtum said she plundered his town one night. He told Euclid that being black, Masukura mistook him in a fog for a spaniel and burned his tail off. But, there were two little clues left behind, he said. One was a folder of book matches with "Eat at Joe's Lunch, Newmarket" on it and a calling card on which was inscribed in old English printing, "Henrietta Del- rimple de Cadiz, printed at the Era and Express!"

O, a notorious one, that Cadiz.

On Second Thought

By The Editor

June is a magic month for poets and brides. It is also the opening of the hay fever season. Hay fever is a very inclusive disease. Its victims are found in every walk of life. Yet there is no little snobbery among the sufferers. The upper crust hay fever victim is he whose sniffles are caused by one of the rarer weeds or pollens. Between this Park Row sniffer, and the back street sneezer whose nose tickler is only the common ragweed, there is all the distance that lies between the lord of the mansion and the scullery maid.

However, these are minor concerns in the watery world in which the victim lives during the hay fever season. For ourself, we hab water in de dose and we're running out of de handkerchief.

One of life's rarer pleasures is taking the children home from the fair. By the time to go home, the ears of the little darlings are stuffed full of sound, their noses full of smells, their eyes full of wild and wonderful sights, and their little bellies full of ice cream, popcorn, sugar candy, taffy apples, hot dogs, pink lemonade—and tiring under this burden of sensation, they quickly fall asleep. At no other time for 48 hours preceding the Big Day are they in this state. However, it is very worth the preliminary third degree (sample: "When do we go daddy? When do we go daddy? When do we go daddy? When do we go daddy? When do we go, etc., etc.) to watch their faces light up and their eyes pop when they enter the gates. How big the ferris wheel must seem. How fast the merry-go-round must whirl. How awesome the horses and cattle. Even the harried parent looking for a comfort station is not entirely immune to their wonder.

But just the same peace is wonderful.

We placed our thought machine on wheels and last Sunday, we turned it upon a seemingly pleasant family picnic. Out of deference to the lady, we concentrated entirely upon the father. Here is a partial transcript of what the machine recorded:

"Good to get out of the city. Nothing like the fresh country air. Puts the roses in your cheeks. Look at Jimmy. He's got roses in one cheek only. Wonder why? Guess he was lying down in that green stuff. Looks like clover, at least I think it is clover. Three leaves on the plant, shiny surface. Maybe its a special kind of clover. Must have tickled him. He's beginning to scratch it. . . .

"There's Susy. My, how that kid loves the country. She looks kind of cute wandering around the pasture. No Susy, that's not a stone. Leave it there, baby. Susy look out. . . . Wonder if mother brought some soap and a couple of towels. It will take an hour to clean that kid up. Why doesn't she be more careful. . . .

"Think I'll have a little rest. So peaceful here. What's that buzzing noise. Go away. . . . Beat it. Say, that's not a mosquito. It's got yellow stripes. It's a hornet. Hey run all of you. Leave the stuff and run. We had our picnic on a hornet's nest. . . .

One can't help but admire the pluck of the intrepid city-dweller as he sallies forth for a day in the country.

Milady's Chapeau Index To Character

(Smith Falls Record-News)

This may be a bit astounding, but it is claimed that hats tell the character of woman. Women who make it a habit to wear hats are of greater intelligence than those who go hatless. That is what experts say and reveal after making a check of the feminine hat-wearing situation. For example, the experts claim, when a highly intelligent film is shown at the theatre, eighty per cent of the women present will be wearing hats. When the other type of picture is being shown, only 70 percent of the females present will be hatless. We would like to interject here, that the person sitting behind the woman wearing a hat, quite often does not consider her intelligent because she insists on wearing headgear, and blocking the view from the screen. The experts also claim that a check on women reading in public conveyances has shown those wearing hats read a much higher type of literature than those who are hatless. Those in the millinery business should be pleased with the experts' findings—even the same may seem silly.

'Valued Public Servant' Tribute To Late Clerk

Why West Dislikes East

(Fergus News-Record)

It has long been known that few Ontario farmers pay income tax. Last year, the number was less than 10,000. Many a city worker, whose tax is deducted before he receives his pay, grumbles because the farmers he knows don't pay anything. He sees them driving new cars, buying tractors and other mechanical equipment, and doubts them when they say they "don't make any money out of farming." But if you want to hear someone who is really bitter about the income tax situation, get hold of a tax-paying farmer from one of the three prairie provinces.

Tax figures for the 1946-1947 fiscal year explain why the Western farmers are complaining. In that year, Alberta farmers paid $3,921,187 in income taxes. Manitoba is a fairly small province, if one leaves out the husband to the north, but Manitoba farmers paid $2,126,201. Saskatchewan farmers paid nearly as much as those in the other two provinces combined, their total being $5,579,921. For the three provinces, the total was $11,627,309.

Compared with those figures, the amount paid by Ontario farmers is a small sum. The total for Ontario was $1,969,576. But that record looks fairly good when compared with the Quebec total of 394,707.

In other words, the farmers of Manitoba paid more in income taxes than the farmers of Ontario and Quebec combined. It's farmers are raising their voices in protest. So would you. . . . Figures showing the number of farmers who filed income tax returns and the number who paid taxes are just as much out of proportion. Here they are: . . . Manitoba farmers filed 31,742 returns, of which 9,836 were assessed for taxes; Saskatchewan farmers filed 46,616 returns and had 15,583 assessed; Alberta filed 74,675 and had 16,312 assessed; Ontario farmers filed 28,909 returns, of which 9,836 were assessed; Quebec filed 19,830 returns, of which only 690 were assessed.

Why is there this widespread difference and apparent injustice? . . . The reason is said to be that the Western farmer has little chance to evade the income tax, even though he does not keep books. His deliveries of wheat and other grains are easily checked and deductions can be made from his payments received. In Ontario, farm income is derived from many sources, some of them hard to check.

Rachel Haight's Recollections

operator with an end of the rod in her hand would lay the wick on the melted tallow, saturating it thoroughly; with the other hand straighten the wicks properly and rest the rod on the ladder, and thus proceed till the whole were gone over, perhaps 30, 40 or more dozen. Then commenced at the first again continuing the process till the desired size was obtained. Mother liked to add a little beeswax to the tallow which rendered the candle more durable. This process was called dipping. Then there was the requirement of a candle stick to support the candle while burning; some made of tin, some of Japan ware, and those who could afford the better articles had them of brass with snuffers and tray to match. IN MEMORIAM

Chandler—In loving memory of my dear little grandson, Charles (Buddy), Chantler, who was suddenly taken to be with Jesus, June 22, 1947. Gone but not forgotten. Is our darling little boy? Who brought us lots of happiness, And four years full of joy. Some days we know we'll miss you And miss your little hands; But in the meantime, darling, We'll try to understand. Always lovingly remembered by his grandmothers and aunts and uncles.

Palmer—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Frank W. Palmer, who passed away June 13, 1947. He is gone, but never forgotten. He is lonely another year. In our lonely hours of thinking Thoughts of him are always near. Days of sadness still come o'er us, Friends may think the wound is healed. But they little know the sorrow That lies within the heart concealed. Sadly missed by wife and sons John and Robert.

Pegg—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Nellie Mae Pegg, who passed away on June 17, 1946. Her thoughts were all so full of us. She never could forget, And so we think that where she is, She must be watching yet. As angels keep their watch up there. Please God, just let her know That we down here do not forget. We love and bless her soul. 'Tis sweet to remember a mother so dear. So absent from us, yet ever so near. Unseen by the world, she stands by our sides, And whispers, "Dear children, death cannot divide." Sadly missed by husband and family.

KETTLBY, ONT.W.C.T.U. Deplores
Violation Of Sabbath

Newmarket — The regular meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held at the home of Miss L. Starr, Prospect St., with Mrs. Ead, vice-president, in the chair. The devotional exercises were given by Mrs. E. Morton. A report was given of the convention held at Willard Hall, Toronto, and the following resolutions and plan of work passed by the Counties of York and Peel were read: 1. Because of its effects on the rising generation, we deplore the violation of the Sabbath laws by children and adults in the buying of ice cream, cigarettes, and other commodities on Sunday and also by practising games in preparation for public games;

2. Because of the present trend in current literature and magazines toward immorality and the use of liquor as a social asset, resolved that we express our disapproval of such reading matter as contrary to moral standards and true citizenship; 3. Mothers of little white ribbons should be asked to sign the pledge; 4. The social and publicity superintendent should have at least one meeting a year for young mothers;

5. The department of education should be asked to make it compulsory to have an examination on the subject of temperance as any school subject; 6. The election returns show that women voters are not showing the desired interest in municipal affairs; resolved that all entitled to vote in all elections whether municipal, provincial or Dominion are urged to use the franchise and thus perform a personal obligation.

7. The counties of York and Peel meeting in convention at Willard Hall, Toronto, pledge wholehearted support to the United Nations as the potential instrument for attaining world peace. We declare our opposition to peacetime conscription of men, women and youth, and to propaganda against any nation and we invite the co-operation of men and women everywhere in a constant effort towards the understanding and the securing of a world peace; 8. We would request the Ontario government to have the laws regarding advertising liquor products enforced; 9. The ruling of the Medal Contest be changed to a standard of work rather than the number of contestants entered in each contest and this request be sent on to the proper authorities.

RYNARD-HUNTLEY RITES IN SUTTON

Sutton United church, decorated with purple lilacs, tulips and standards of pink and white apple blossoms, was the setting for the marriage on May 29 of Helen Bernice Huntley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Harlan Huntley, to Hugh Cameron Rynard, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Rynard.

Rev. E. A. Knechtel officiated. Miss B. Sellers presided at the organ. Mr. Cecil Prosser, accompanied by Mrs. E. A. Knechtel at the piano, was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of trillium white satin with a bodice featuring a net yoke draped in a bertha of lace with pearl clips. Her full skirt was caught with satin bows to reveal the lace tiers of her hooped petticoat. A full-length veil, embroidered with flowers, flowed from a coronet of seed pearls. She carried an all-white cascade of roses and lily-of-the-valley. Miss Ruth Hancock, maid of honor, was in an aqua taffeta gown with a low neckline and draped in waistline folds with matching headpiece and mittens. She carried an arm bouquet of pink delight roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Catherine Morton and Mrs. S. W. Hart, were similarly gowned in orchid brocade taffeta

Misses Donna and Karen Umphrey, the flower girls, were dressed alike in pale yellow organdy dresses each with a tightly fitted waist, full skirt and matching bandeau. They carried old-fashioned nosegays of roses, daisies and sweet-peas.

Mervin C. Rynard, brother of the groom, was best man while R. Edwards and M. Rynard assisted as ushers.

At the home of the bride's parents, her mother received in navy blue with fuchsia accessories and a corsage of pink delight roses and lily-of-the-valley. The groom's mother chose a drape powder blue dress with a corsage of briarcliff roses and lily-of-the-valley. Later, in a cherry red gabardine suit with matching hat, navy accessories and a mauve orchid corsage, the bride left with her husband by motor to Montreal and north-eastern points of the United States.

Other features of the gown were lily-point sleeves, sweetheart neckline and scrolls of self material on the skirt. Her full-length veil cascaded from a satin coronet. She carried a bouquet of deep pink roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Kathryn Green, was charming in a floor-length gown of pale blue nylon sheer over satin. She wore a coronet of yellow carnations and carried a matching bouquet. Long lace mittens completed her ensemble.

The groom was attended by Gordon Speira. Brothers of the groom, Neil and Norman Ross, acted as ushers.

Mrs. F. P. Duggan, organist, played the wedding music. After the signing of the register, Mrs. A. G. Rice sang O Love Divine, a composition by Blanche Brice, a great aunt of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. A. G. Rice to which the groom responded.

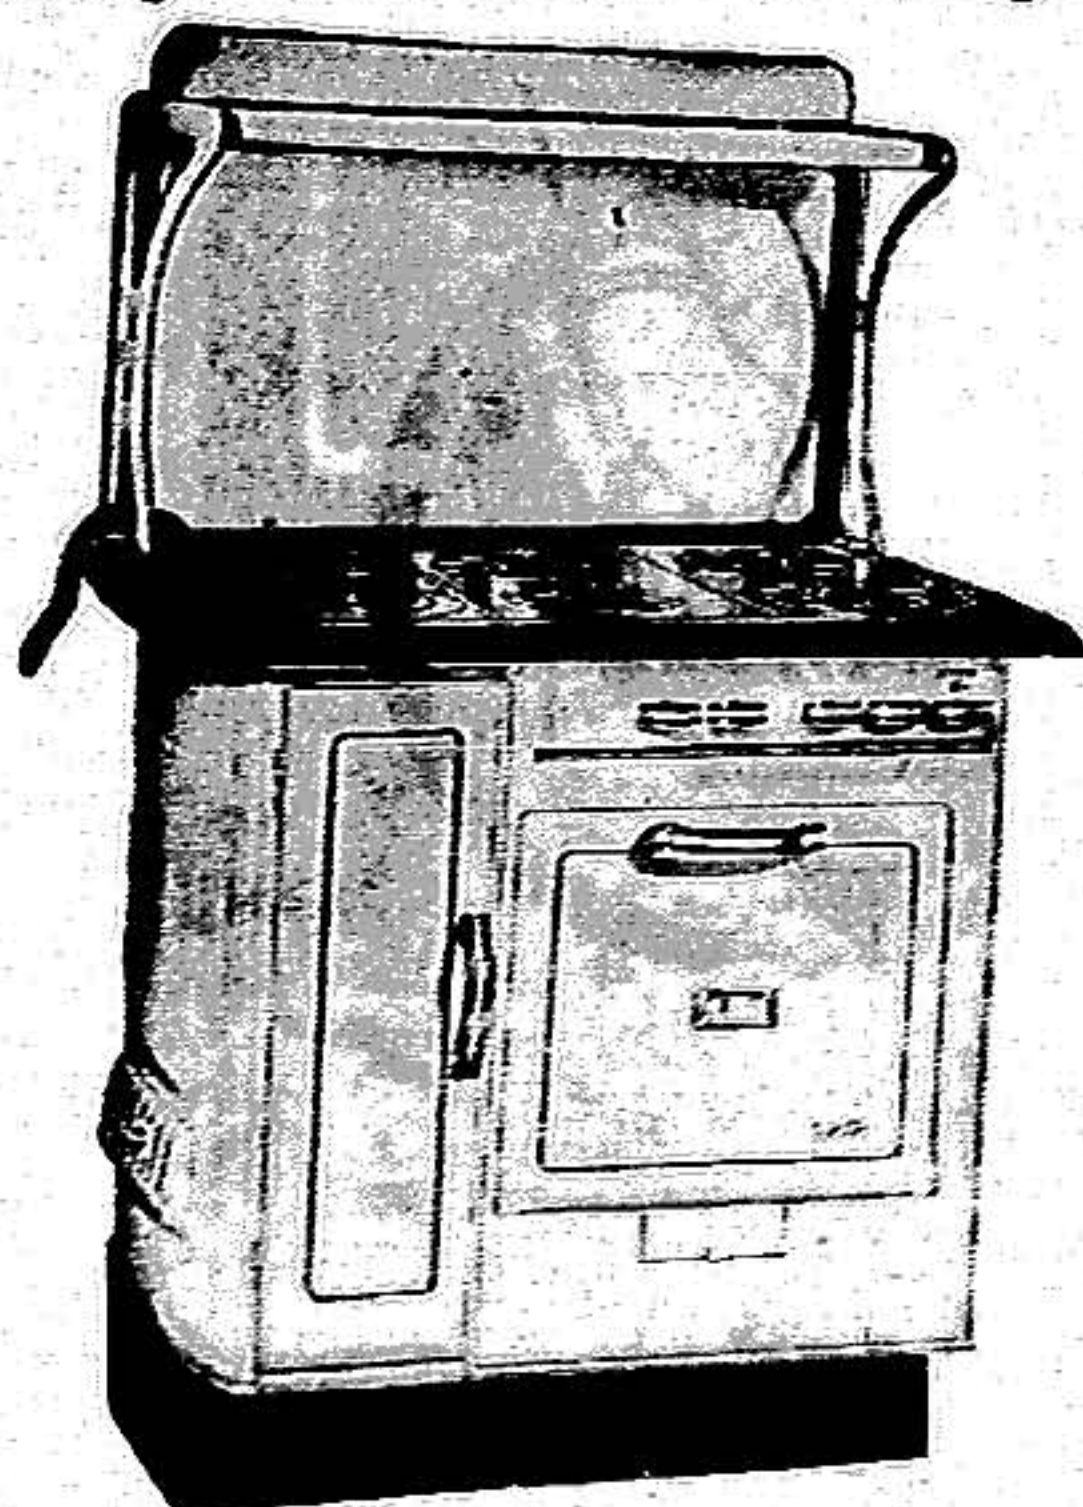

After a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Ross will reside in Shaunavon. For travelling the bride chose a navy gabardine suit with grey topcoat and matching accessories.

Out-of-town guests included Miss Kathryn Green, Regina, and Mrs. A. B. Stouffer, Bate-man.

Young Hopefuls

By DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN

(This is the story of Bob's success. It is too important to be treated lightly. To do it justice, it must of necessity be lengthy so is appearing in three separate installments.)

Bob, 17 years old, is a happy self-supporting teen-ager. That sounds as if he were quite a bright young man for his years. The truth is he has a very low M.A. (mental age rating) but his mental attitude is on the right side of the ledger.

As a child, Bob's home life was almost unbearable for him because his two older brothers hadn't been slow learners and neither they nor his parents could understand this oddity in the family. Bob resorted to all kinds of misbehavior in order to get some share of the attention his brothers enjoyed — even though that attention took the form of punishment and brought even further humiliation.

Bob's parents were more than anxious to shift their responsibility for him to teachers as soon as he was school age. Then, they blamed the teachers because he didn't learn like the other children. Bob was definitely a misfit in the classroom — though he didn't prove such a behavior problem there as he had at home. He simply couldn't learn at the speed of the other pupils when he did try — so he stopped trying and sat stupidly staring within himself. The other children didn't understand him and made fun of him, which caused him to retire more and more within himself.

Wanted To Help

Bob's teacher wanted to help him but she couldn't take the time in the regular classroom and her teaching energies were at low ebb at the close of the

In these mad days a house has taken to itself a degree of importance never dreamed of in the far off halcyon days when everyone had a home of sorts. Nowadays houses seem to stand with an air of aloofness, of pride, as if to say, "I am a house — people will do almost anything to get me." And you look at these houses and wonder how many will ever become homes for though the need for houses is great, the need for homes is infinitely greater.

I have never, and I never will, attain the degree of immaculacy in my home, where a muddy footprint or a misplaced book will seem like a profanation. To me, a home must have a look of lived-in-ness, an accustomedness to the habits of the family that shows in the bit of work here, the books and magazines there. The age-old feeling of security and comfort and love.

One afternoon, not long ago, Mrs. Elmer Starr invited her neighbors to come to her home and hear Mrs. McKay, a speaker for the Temperance Federation. The subject Mrs. McKay chose school day. Bob was kept in first grade until his physical size was twice that of the other first-graders. Then he was allowed to pass.

During his fifth year of school life and while he was still in the second grade, a new life opened to him. The school system installed an opportunity class with a teacher especially trained for auxiliary work. Previously to the installation of this opportunity class, the taxpayers' money was actually being wasted on Bob.

Bob was one of 15 boys and girls to receive the benefit of special instruction. The I.Q.'s (intelligence quotients) of the others admitted to the class varied — but all were higher than Bob's. Some children had normal I.Q.'s but were admitted to the opportunity class temporarily to catch up on a subject missed during absence and were later returned to their regular classrooms.

However, this story is about Bob, the boy with the very low I.Q.

The Common Round...

By Isabel Inglis Colville

HOUSES VS. HOMES

was "Homes," and on this subject she was well fitted to speak as her work takes her into houses of all sorts. She said there were some essentials without which a house could never become a home.

Security Most Important

She said that security was one of the most important "musts" in a home. The child must feel he or she has a foundation on which to grow and a family background where security stands out like a sheltering tree on a desert land. Insecurity will breed fear and hardness and the pitiful turning to something — anything — good or bad, that stirs a feeling of belonging. She said, too, that co-operation was one of the beauties of a real home — where all things were shared by all of the family, where pleasures, work and worship were of equal importance to the smallest child and the head of the family — where "our" not "my" embellished the family talk.

The two greatest assets of a home are love and religion. In a home where no love is shown between parents, and between parents and children, the very coldness of the atmosphere will force the children out into the paths of juvenile delinquency, to find there, perhaps a substitute for love which can only lead to tragedy. If the house be a home, it will be open to the friends of all the family and become a centre of something real and vital which will live on in hearts long after those who partook of the warmth and cheer are scattered.

In a home like this there will be the drawing together for worship, at home and in church. Stored in minds and hearts will be a treasury of psalms and verses and hymns that in moments of stress, fear, or temptation, come to mind with almost miraculous effect, and last of all, this household will know that sobriety in a home is absolutely an essential, for where fear exists there can be no confidence, no security; Mrs. McKay said the homes she had seen broken up by drunkenness were among the most pitiful. So, it seems to me, it takes a tremendous amount of courage, love, faith and work to make a house into a home.

Childhood Home

Like so many of you, I have lived all my life in a home, and I was thinking of my childhood home, where mother made two rules. My father — and of course no one else — was allowed to smoke in her drawing room; my chums and I could play all we liked in it, but no smoking there. Consequently we often found father's cigars in unexpected places where they had been hastily bestowed, and forgotten; one could trace father's movements thereby. The other taboo was politics. If father and his friends must indulge in this form of entertainment, they could talk, argue, and settle the affairs of the nation in the dining-room, in the kitchen — any place under the sun — but not where mother reigned supreme. Well, we haven't a drawing room, only a living-room, so we don't make any rules except those of courtesy. Maybe we don't take our politics as seriously as father's friends did, but even if we do, we still can discuss them in the living-room, and anyone smokes who cares to. But no one objected to mother's rules, for our house was a mecca to all our friends and surely respect for each other's wishes is an attribute of homemaking.

Homemakers' Exchange

Hot water gingerbread and peanut butter cookies — both recipes making use of beef drippings — are offered this week and we are certain they'll prove favorites with any family. With strawberry time just ahead the exchange welcomes any recipes for canning, preserving or quick freezing of these berries as well as any favorite recipe for a mouth-watering shortcake or pie.

1/2 Cup molasses
1/2 Cup sugar
1 Tsp. cinnamon
2 Tsp. cloves
2 1/2 Cups pastry flour
1 1/2 Tsp. soda
1 Cup boiling water
Cream fat, add sugar slowly, add well beaten egg. Mix boiling water with molasses. Add alternately with the sifted dry ingredients. Pour into a nine-inch greased pan. Bake in a slow oven (300-325 degrees) for 50-60 minutes.

PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES

1/2 Cup peanut butter
1/2 Cup rendered beef fat (dripping)
1/4 Cup white sugar
1/2 Cup brown sugar
1 Egg
1 1/2 Cups pastry flour
1/2 Tsp. baking soda
1/4 Tsp. salt

1 Tsp. soda
1 Tsp. vanilla
Drop on cookie sheet and press with fork. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 15 minutes. Makes five dozen. (Can be divided and have chocolate bits, nuts or raisins added.)

HANDS AT WORK... for ONTARIO

LEARNING MACHINE ASSEMBLY

ONTARIO'S products are desired and purchased by people all over the world and the capacity to produce such goods largely determines the economic welfare of every man, woman and child within her borders. Because the sale of every article produced in Ontario brings valuable dollars into this Province, we all are more assured of job security... and we and our children can have more of the better things in life. But to produce such goods in sufficient quantities, skilled labour is vital. That is why every single one of us should be glad that war veterans are constantly being trained to provide the skilled hands so needed by industry. They receive ON THE JOB training under expert instructors in our Ontario factories.

This training, provided through the co-operation of the Department of Veterans' Affairs, the Federal Department of Labour and the Ontario Department of Education, starts the veteran on the road to skilled craftsmanship. In assembling business machines, for example, veterans must have a thorough knowledge of electricity and must learn to perform intricate work on precision machines having thousands of separate parts. These Canadian-made business machines are sold in all parts of the world, creating new wealth for Canada and Ontario. Therefore every effort of these newly skilled veterans helps to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and contributes to the welfare and happiness of all her citizens.

THE BREWING INDUSTRY (ONTARIO)

MACHINE ASSEMBLY

John N. West, 25, of Toronto, a Royal Canadian Navy veteran, is shown here making an adjustment to one of the 10,000 parts in a business machine designed for a New Zealand firm.

Various types of business machines are produced in Ontario factories. Because of their intricate mechanisms it is essential that these machines be checked by expert craftsmen at every stage of their production.

Entries Pour In Legion Baby Show

Attention babies! We know that North York has always produced champion infants, but someplace in North York there is a champion of champions. Starting at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, June 23, the Canadian Legion is going to try to find that diminutive paragon. The contest will be staged at the Stuart Scott school and so no local doctor will be subsequently forced out of business, the judges are being imported from the Hospital for Sick Children. To regulate traffic, the Women's Auxiliary of the Legion will be on hand and the weighing in ceremonies will be conducted by nurses from York County hospital.

Unfortunately times does not permit distinction in age groups so entries will be limited to a single class, age six months to 18 months. Every entry will receive valuable favors and the various winners will be presented with prizes that will make them coo with delight.

We want it understood that judging will be on the basis of physical attributes exclusive of lung power. Although Newmarket parents justifiably believe their babies will have a distinct edge yet our spies tell us there are some mighty contenders in the townships. It is doubtful whether or not Aurora citizens feel they qualify for the major league or not but it is generally believed that even the Yonge St. town may have a dark horse.

Legion members themselves were disappointed at not having exhibited a winner in the last show and local druggists say the subsequent sale of vitamins to the returned boys has been on an exceptionally high scale.

Have your entries in to Dr. Cock by midnight, June 19.

P.S. Dr. Cock wishes to assure all parents that any resemblance he may bear to a judge in this show is purely coincidental.

Tells of Cuban Trip

The Women's Institute meeting held at the home of Mrs. Norman King was well attended. Miss Eleanor Thayer was guest speaker and spoke on My Trip to Cuba. This was presented in an interesting and colorful manner. During the half-hour of her talk, the members lived with her in the $250 apartment, walked through the narrow streets in the old city of Havana, talked with the good looking, dusky - complexioned Cubans who considered English-speaking people to be practically demigods, and basked in the very beautiful sunny climate of Cuba.

Current events were given by Mrs. Harry Horner who reminded the members that any summer day their garden may be visited by a jewel on wings - a humming bird. Eva Marie Kay and Floyd King read poems entitled Rural Sympathies and Catkins respectively.

A report of the district annual convention held at Nobleton was presented by Mrs. Norman King. It was suggested that each member keep a scrap book in order to record and account the highlight of each meeting as that particular member saw it. He told of his work and asked for the prayers of his family and friends that he may carry out his mission.

The members were pleased to have with them Mrs. Geo. Wilkinson and Mrs. Will Pollard who, owing to illness, have not been able to attend a meeting for two years. The chemical industry never stands still. It continues to create new useful products and to improve many old ones. It contributes to the well-being of all of us... with the C-I-I, oval the symbol of an organization devoted to serving Canadians through chemistry.

Several folk from this community attended the wedding at Second Markham Baptist church on Saturday of David Clarke to Margaret Rowan.

Last Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Cecil Wood, Bogartown, a miscellaneous shower was held for Miss Carolla Leistner, a bride of Saturday. Many lovely and useful gifts were received for which Carolla thanked everyone personally.

At the Union church Sunday-school and church services last Sunday Miss H. McClure of the Rural Life Mission of Northern Ontario was present and gave some real information of the wonderful work and the good that is being accomplished among the Finnish people there.

Sunday, June 20, at the Union church, Rev. N. Rowan's subject will be: "Who does the land of Palestine belong to anyhow?"

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Toole and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hunt and Gordon Hunt attended the graduation of nurses of the Western hospital, Toronto, last week when Miss Audrey Hunt was a graduate.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Preston, David and sister, Marjorie Preston, attended the graduation of Miss Mary Reynolds of Barrie hospital last Thursday.

Newmarket Lacrosse Opens At Home

Newmarket fans had their first look at lacrosse Thursday night. From what they saw they'll be back and bring their friends with them. 'Tis true, Newmarket lost as they took it on the chin 15-4. The visiting swimmers from Woodbridge packed a little more experience. Their passing attack was better. But don't forget this was the locals' first encounter. They'll go better next time out.

Lion Midnets Make It Third Straight Triumph

Brim full of confidence from their double triumph over Stouffville, Newmarket Lions proceeded to hammer out a 14-7 win over Richmond Hill at Pantry Park Friday. It was the third win for the Lions. It also moved them atop the midnet shuffle.

The Lions had their batting toes on and they lashed out for 12 hits. The Hill pitching duo of "Red" Slater and Kenne Bennett were the victims of their singing bats. "Ortie" Thoms, Bill Haskett's ace moundman, meanwhile set the Hillers back on their heels with eight hits.

TRY AGAIN

Proving that a good big team can generally take a good little team, especially when aided by a comedy of errors, Bonitas of the Toronto Greenwood junior "A" circuit blasted out a 10-3 win over Aurora junior "B" baseballers last week. Aurora was jittery in the field and the offerings of Don Brown and Ron Simmons suited the classy Toronto batters. The two teams will try conclusions on Monday, June 21, in Toronto.

ATTEND CONVENTION

Aurora—Rev. A. R. Park and Mrs. Park are attending the meetings of the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec in Windsor this week.

With AB HULSE

WHO'S WHERE AND WHY

Leonard Simmons is no Swiss yodeler but he hastens to shout that the rumor that he's withholding transfers for Jack Andrews and Loring Doolittle to Toronto Uniques of the North Toronto junior A circuit is entirely without foundation. Simmons, however, opines it may be a torrid Tuesday or frosty Friday before he'll give the nod for Gerry Atchison to depart. Atchison has played two games with the locals and he's needed to bolster the Aurora mound staff. Both Doolittle and Andrews have given two years to the Aurora club and Simmons won't stand on territorial rights. "Dewey" has banged out three homers to date and "Long Jawn" has two pitching scalps on his belt. Not bad for the two big Aurora youngsters. Both boys would like to bring their club to Aurora on the Legion field day but the Aurora management haven't said "go ahead".

One of life's little oddities is the way Simmons describes the case of Don Campbell of Stouffville. Campbell, big defence star of Stouffville junior hockeyists, is too old for junior baseball despite the fact he played junior hockey last winter. The hockey age is under 20 November 1 and the baseball age is under 21 May 1. Simmons still has his pencil and paper out trying to solve the problem, and what's happened in the space of six months.

George Stong, ye ex-fireballer of Richmond Hill Roses, is mowing them down in the Hamilton senior circuit. Stong ranks with the great Russ Johnson in popularity in the Ambitious City and he's about second to Johnson and Joe Davis in ability. Bill Kostoff and his Canadian Legion team from Richmond Hill have gamely picked up the vacancy in the North Yonge league created when Thornhill dropped out and from now on you can expect your North Yonge softball weekly in all centres. Kostoff, it will be recalled, played with the Hill briefly last year and was no great shakes as a player. Keeping our fingers crossed for the sake of all concerned, we hope the new entry is better than we think it will be. Kostoff will need plenty of outside help if the team is to measure up as most of the available players are past their prime or with Langstaff in the southern area. Well, we can be patient, remember how Langstaff turned out to be the Cinderella team of the '47 season?

Carl "Shorty" Turan announced his return to lacrosse last week. He was due to see action with Newmarket this week. One of the most versatile and durable athletes (grade A in lacrosse, hockey and baseball), "Shorty" is in fairly good shape and his experience should do much to steady the younger element on the canaltown team. Perhaps the boys should be known as the "North York Combines" for Gordy Smith, Scotty Johnston, Jeff Elliott and Thompson hail from Richvale, while Jackie Flicker, Chuck Southwood, "Stew" Patrick give Aurora representation. Ernie James, ex-Aurora junior, gives Bradford a stake in the team too. The Newmarket team can and will do better and there's plenty more recruits available.

Ladies Lose First By Close Margin

Errors, two of them, sent Newmarket ladies down to their first defeat Thursday as Valley's of Barrie sneaked home with a 6-5 win. The errors came in the fatal fifth. Up to that point coach "Chuck" VanZant had his team leading 4-2. Valley's proceeded to erase that with a four-run uprising. Miscues put left fielder Kenny and catcher Longhurst on the base paths. The Barrie infield duo of Lennox and Jones, making the most of these two errors, promptly dished out two base hits to push across four runs. It was a tough break.

Newmarket brought home a run in their turn in the fifth, Lois Manning tripling, to open the frame and came into the pay station on Edna McGrath's single to centre. Pitcher Dot Miller squelched the rally but had to have a lot of help from her centre field mate, who robbed Mary Osborne of a bid for a hit. Newmarket, in the final trip to the plate, looked headed for another of their late rallies, Edna McGrath getting a free trip to first but was out at the middle station on Lois Blight's infield roller. Mary Osborne singled but the rally fell short as Audrey McClymont flied out and Betty VanZant went down swinging.

Wednesday of last week, "our lassies" won a close 4-3 decision over Barrie Copacos. It was a rousing softball tilt. The score was even at three all going into the seventh. Mona Dean and Phil Osborne making first safely and catcher Dean crossing with the winner as the reliable Mary Ellen slapped out a hit.

POSSIBILITIES HERE?

Looks as if Aurora may have a ladies' softball club after all. The girls from the Hart Manufacturing Company are working out at the Aurora town park and look mighty good.

Aurora Humbles Vets On Hometown Field

By GEO. HASKETT, JR.

It finally happened. It had to, you know, sooner or later. After years and years, Aurora finally humbled Newmarket Vets on the greensward at Stuart Scott, the final tally showing Aurora 9, Newmarket 3. Moe Walsh, we know for a fact, has threatened a secret weapon several times this spring. He brought it along Tuesday night in the person of Normie Bagnell, Aurora's super special pitching sensation. Bagnell started right in to prove his playing coach wasn't wrong. In fact, he was so right Bagnell sent 17 of our lads down by the strike-out route. The Vets found time to pick up nine hits but they were well scattered. Behind this flinging, Aurora played almost errorless ball. "Joint" McCormack rang up eight strike-outs. Aurora had an equal number of hits, nine. It was errors affixed that gave Aurora the big edge.

In the first frame, Aurora got the jump with two runs, three errors and nary a sign of a base hit. The Vets replied with a loner in the second, "Joint" McCormack tripling, although centre fielder Jerry Worth nearly got his hands on it at that. The throw to third was off. McCormack trotting home with the run. Moe Walsh opened the third with the first of his three hits, Loring Doolittle (your favorite hiss' hiss' man) duplicated, both registering on Normie Bagnell's safety.

Aurora went for another in the fourth, "Hoppy" Hodgins scoring on Moe Walsh's double. Tod Mosier made it two for the Vets in the fifth. Mosier, who started at third base and then took over behind the plate, was the Vets' most potent slugger with three. After reaching third, Tod was waved home by Umpire Sumners and Chuck VanZant went to first as catcher Clare Walsh (Moe's brother) was guilty of tipping the bat.

Normie Bagnell, as well as demonstrating his pitching stuff, showed he could hit, smashing out a round tripper in the seventh. Aurora made the eighth their big innings. Mickey Sutton doubled and "Red" Castles singled to score Sutton. Ron Simmons made the initial sack on an infield error, the latter duo coming into the pay-off window on Moe Walsh's neat single.

Short stopper John Hisey got the eighth under way with a hit. Bob Peters stroled and Mickey Smith, who dished out two for four, poled out a solid triple with two away. Hisey chalked up his run but Bob Peters went out at the plate, after taking a spill rounding third.

Four Newmarket Rinks Sweep Field At Aurora

Four Newmarket teams came home with all prizes at the first treble tournament on the Aurora lawn bowling greens last Saturday. Six local teams entered. Andrew Murdison, Jack Luck and Steve Rose were high for three wins. Jas. Law, Larry Bell and Tommy Scott were second high with three wins. Del Gibney, Pete Bastedo and Kester Hugo came in with high for two wins, while Ken Bain, Bruce Gibson and Vaughan Goring had high for one win.

Aurora Takes Markham By 12-8 Tally

Aurora juniors scored a listless 12-8 win over Markham juveniles at Aurora on Monday night. Confident of victory, Aurora led 7-0 at one stage. Then carelessness and some timely Markham hitting brought the visitors to within one run of the locals. Don Gibson came through with a timely bingle in the fifth to start the Aurora boys on their way to clinching it and Norm Stunden held the visitors scoreless in the top half of the sixth. Bud Watson and Bob Ringwood handled the Markham hurling, while Ron Simmons and Stunden pitched for Aurora. Jimmy Rutledge made his appearance at the keystone sack and Dan "Chesty" Bovair proved his versatility by filling in capably at short. "Mo" Walsh worked the game in big league style behind the plate.

6-5 Finish Keeps Atop Yonge League

Aurora softballers kept atop of the North Yonge league by defeating Langstaff 6-5 with a garrison finish at Langstaff last week. Down 5-0 at one stage the Walshmen kept packing away at the offerings of Ken Darling and Bill Bowen, finally putting over the winner in the seventh. Andy O'Neil was on the mound for Aurora. Youthful Gerry Atchison made his debut in the Aurora line-up and played well.

Rod And Gun Club Have Initial Test

Newmarket Rod and Gun club held its initial live-fishing contest up at Lake Simcoe last Monday night. The prize for the biggest fish went to Albert Higginson for 3 1/2 lbs. The weather was quite windy to start with and hindered the casting considerably, but by dark it had calmed, with the boys enjoying a good night's fishing.

The big one that got away was hooked by Ernie Peters. Ernie was afraid it wouldn't fit into the boat. Consolation prize went to Vic Higginson who caught a ten-gallon can. His prize? "The Can."

A casting contest is slated for next Monday night on the Legion hall lawn. A prize is to be awarded the highest score, so come prepared to do your stuff. Contest begins at 7:30 p.m. sharp.

CLOSE WIN

Stouffville, now elevated to intermediate O.B.A. ranks, edged out Aurora juniors last week 9-8 in a thriller played in Stouffville. Heavy hitting prevailed with the third Stouffville hurler, big Orval Rows, finally getting credit for the win. A newcomer from North Fy, and Roy Ward from the midget ranks failed to hold the fort. Brown and Simmons looked after the Aurora hurling.
